Railway Systems of the South.

Colonel E. Hulbert, Superintendent of the Western and Atlantic Railroad from Chattanooga to Atlanta, was announced as the next speaker. He called attention to the fact that Chattanooga was the northern central point of the great system of Southern railways.

Chattanooga stands in the lower Cumberland Gap, the great water gap through which the river passes; the great railroad lines from the Atlantic coast, from the Gulf of Mexico, from the direction of New Orleans, all verge to that common point. They converge there, as explained by Colonel Gaw, from absolute necessity occasioned by the conformation of the country. They could not have been built otherwise.

The first great trunk is the Western and Atlantic, from Chattanooga to Atlanta, 138 miles in length, with an income of $1,200,000; connecting at Atlanta with the Georgia road, from Atlanta to Augusta, Ga., 171 miles, with an income of $1,500,000; connecting also with the South Carolina Railroad, from Augusta to Charleston, and branch to Columbia, S. C., 205 miles, with an income of about $1,250,000, and with the Wilmington and Manchester road, Kingsville to Wilmington, N. C., 171 miles, with an income exceeding half a million dollars.

Returning to Atlanta, as a starting point, we have thence to Macon, Ga., the Macon and Western Road, 103 miles, with an income of about $400,000 per annum; connecting with the Southern Railway to Eufaula, Ala., 143 miles, with branches to Fort Gaines and Albany, Ga., 51 miles, a total of 194 miles of the Southwestern road and branches, with an income of over $800,000 per annum.

Returning to Macon, we have the road from Macon to Savannah, Ga., by the Central road, with its branches to Milledgeville and Augusta, Ga., 288 miles, with an income of $1,500,000; also the Atlantic and Gulf road—Savannah to Bainbridge, Ga., 20 miles, with a side line of 40 miles, connecting with the entire railway system of Florida; total earning exceeding one million dollars.

Again, in immediate connection with the latter, are the Florida roads, of an aggregate length of 300 miles. Earnings, $800,000.

Returning to Macon, from thence to Columbus, Ga., by the Southwestern road, 50 miles, and the Muscogee road, 50 miles, with total earnings exceeding $500,000.

Returning to Macon, we have the Macon and Brunswick Railroad, under contract and being rapidly completed, 185 miles, about 85 miles of which are in running order.

The harbor of Brunswick is the best south of Norfolk, with 28 feet of water on its bar at ebb tide, with a capacity to safely float the navies of the world.

Returning to Atlanta, thence to West Point, Ga., by the Atlantic and West Point Road, 87 miles. Gross earnings, $350,000 per annum. From West Point to Montgomery, 88 miles. Earnings, $350,000 per annum.

Montgomery to Mobile and Pensacola by the Montgomery, Mobile and Pensacola roads, 127 miles; gross earnings exceeding half a million dollars.

This presents the railway connections in Georgia, South Carolina, and Florida by the one great trunk line, the Western and Atlantic Railroad from Chattanooga and Atlanta.

The next great trunk line penetrating the Cotton Belt is the Selma, Rome and Dalton Road, completed from Selma, the heart of the cotton region in Alabama, to Rome, 197 miles; thence by the Rome Road to Kingston, 20 miles, thence 60 miles to Chattanooga.

This company is rapidly extending its line from Rome to Dalton, Ga., shortening their line 15 miles. This may be called the second great trunk line from Chattanooga, 277 miles in all. This connects at Selma with steamers for Mobile by the Alabama River, navigable at all seasons, and on the west with the Selma and Meridian Road, 107 miles, which in turn connects with Vicksburg and Meridian Railroad, to Vicksburg, Miss., 140 miles, penetrating the heart of the cotton region of central Alabama and Mississippi.

The third great trunk was the Alabama and Chattanooga, from Chattanooga to Meridian, 276 miles, through the Wills Valley, via Elyton and Tuscaloosa. The Wills Valley is particularly rich in coal and iron. The mountains on either side for a distance along the route of 60 miles, are filled with these minerals. In constructing this road, cuts were frequently made through iron. In some instances embankments were made of iron ore taken from the excavations. This road then passes through the Black Warrior coal field, embracing from 5,000 to 7,000 square miles, with iron and coal lying side by side.

It is now in process of rapid construction, the work progressing on each end. About fifty miles are already completed. Arrangements are also being perfected for its continuance from Meridian to New Orleans, about 160 miles, making this, via Chattanooga and Cincinnati, the shortest line from New Orleans to the Northern railroads, and connecting at New Orleans with the system of Texas roads.

The fourth great line from Chattanooga is that from Montgomery to Decatur, Alabama, about 185 miles, thence by the Memphis and Charleston road, to Chattanooga. The former is under contract in the hands of responsible parties, to be completed within two years. Thus, you have two great trunk lines, penetrating Alabama to the Gulf—one through the heart of the cotton region—the other penetrating the great coal and iron regions of that State.

The fifth great trunk line is that of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, from Chattanooga due west to Memphis, on the banks of the Mississippi, 309 miles, with an income exceeding $1,500,000 per annum.

In addition to these five trunk lines, there are the Nashville and Chattanooga, 151 miles, and the East Tennessee and Georgia, 113 miles, Chattanooga to Knoxville, making seven grand trunk lines, centering at Chattanooga, amounting, in the aggregate, to over 3,500 miles of road in operation, besides 500 miles in process of construction.

Colonel Hulbert, after this careful and valuable exposition of the system of Southern Railway, closed with the following reflections:

"Chattanooga being the northern center of the great railroad system of the South, and Cincinnati being the center of the Southern line of the great railway system between the Rocky Mountains and the coast—with the completion of this proposed Southern road, Cincinnati will command the entire trade of the Gulf of Mexico, almost the entire cotton trade of the South. Time was when cotton was moved mainly by water. That time has passed. The commodity is too valuable. Steamers and sail vessels are too slow. Three-fourths of the cotton crop, since the war, has been moved by rail, although the difficulties in the way are now great, having to ship by roundabout routes. In consequence of this, for three years, the shipment of our cotton crop has been delayed, and our planting interests have suffered. We feel the necessity of a great railway connection with the Northern railway system.

"Chattanooga is nearly on an air line to Pensacola; and from there it is only eighteen hours' run to Havana. With such a grand railroad connection, Cincinnati ought to control the sugar trade of Cuba. [Cheers.] And not only this, but the South American trade immediately south of the Gulf, and especially the coffee trade of Brazil. [Renewed cheers.]

"There is no railroad project on this continent so important to the great interests of the country at large, as this single line. Cincinnati has it in her power, within ten years, to command the trade of the Gulf of Mexico, almost the entire trade of the cotton States, and the trade of South America. It rests with you to say whether you will possess yourselves of this privilege or not. So far as our being able to aid you, I would say, that we are poor. The war ruined us; our railroads were almost broken up, to repair which, we have contracted large debts; we are just now getting upon our feet again; we are not able to subscribe largely, unless it is done collectively, and this I will on my return urge upon my railroad friends, and ask them to unite in building this trunk road from Chattanooga to the State line.—[Cheers.] Knoxville has been spoken of as a terminus. I think it should be one of the termini. But we ask of you—all our Southern roads having important business relations for you—ask that you do not place a third party between yourselves and us." [Applause.]

EVENING EDITION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA:.....JUNE 14.

The Great Southern Railroad.

We give much of our space this morning to explaining to our readers this great Railroad enterprise—the Cincinnati and Chattanooga Railroad.

For our State road it is one of the most important movements of the day. It will prove for us a mammoth feeder, and we can not measure its benefits.

We have for some time been trying to get a chart of the railroad system to illustrate the matter practically, and we have to thank Col. W. B. Gaw, of Chattanooga, for success.

We give in connection with it, after considerable search, Col. Hulbert's railroad speech at Cincinnati, as a better exposition of the enterprise, than we have been able to find elsewhere, and than we could write.

The claims of the different routes were advocated by gentlemen from each section, W. A. Gunn of Lexington, M. J. Durham of Danville, W. J. Ramage of Knoxville, R. B. Bullock of Georgia, Haggard of McMinnville, W. B. Gaw of Chattanooga and others.

The unanimity with which Chattanooga was selected as the terminus shows the eligibility of the point, and the various gentlemen who have worked to secure the matter are worthy of commendation.

We propose to say more about this Railroad, when we have more space and time.

On the Road.

We went up the road Saturday.

Wheat crops are fine. The villages are pretty much deserted, as the farmers are knuckling to the harvest.

In Dade, the people lacked the labor to harvest, and Mr. Stanton, a Boston man, the Superintendent of Wills Valley Railroad, working 1,400 hands, generously put his labor at the command of the people, to get in their wheat, thus saving them from heavy loss. The railroad is finished eighteen miles beyond Trenton, and rapidly pushing.

In Dalton, we found evidences of cheering progress—new buildings and enterprise.

We have to thank our enterprising friend Dr. B. B. Brown, for some excellent soda, from his new and neat fount.

Mr. Robert Batey showed us some oats of the Surprise White variety, not grown, with heads eleven inches long. When fully ripe, they grow often to fifteen inches in length. Mr. B. has used the deep plowing culture.

He also showed us superb wheat of the Red Mediterranean and Amber French variety, with three grains in the pod, wheat that has never rusted or had fly or weevil in this country.

Many old citizens have lately died there, among them General Dunn, a fine old gentlemen, who, in 1861, at the age of 70, enlisted in the war and went to the field. Thus are passing away these links connecting us with the past.

The railroad officials and Kimball & Pullman sleeping car gentlemen, have our thanks for their courtesies.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA.....JUNE 15.

The Great Southern Railway.

In our evening edition we presented our readers with a Map of this contemplated line, showing its proposed route, and giving some idea of the country it will traverse. We invite its careful study, and resume our comments upon it.

Its importance to Georgia, as a feeder of incalculable value to her great trunk line, which connects the Northwest with the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico, can hardly be estimated. It will shorten the distance between Atlanta and Cincinnati, at least one hundred and fifteen miles, and thus by cheapening travel, and the costs of the transportation of the necessaries of life, reduce the cost of living, to all.

The line has not yet been definitely settled; but the surveys indicate the proper route to be from Cincinnati to Paris, Ky.; thence via Lexington, Nicholasville, Danville and Somerset to Chitwood, Ky., on the State line between Kentucky and Tennessee; thence via Montgomery, to Emory River Gap; and thence along the foot of Walden's Ridge to a point near Post Oak Springs and Smith's Cross Roads, in Tennessee, to Chattanooga.

The grades are generally easy—the greatest being eighty feet, with a good prospect of reducing it to sixty feet per mile, with three small tunnels. As a whole the route is very favorable.

It passes through territory not only valuable as an agricultural and stock-raising country, but exceedingly important and valuable otherwise. As already stated, the shorter distance will diminish the cost of travel, and the cost of transportation of the necessaries of life. But in addition to this, the route passes through rich iron ore beds one hundred and twenty miles, and for two hundred miles through remarkably rich coal fields.

The very great importance of this line to the State Road—and through it to the people of the State, of all classes—and to its Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama connections, it is impossible to overrate. The development of these vast iron ore beds will add population and bring substantial wealth, while the working of the immense and almost immeasurable and exhaustless coal fields will reduce the cost of fuel.

While these grand and beneficent results will assuredly be realized by other roads than the Western and Atlantic, and by other States than Georgia, the local benefits which Atlanta may derive from it, must not be lost sight of. The cheapening of coal for fuel should reduce the cost of gas-light, and will certainly so lessen the cost of fuel as to enable Atlanta, and other cities similarly situated, to compete successfully, in connection with the superior railways, in the manufacture of all kinds of agricultural implements, wooden and iron ware, and cotton.

This picture is not over drawn—these conclusions are not visionary—they only need faith in our future, and the practical use of the means at our disposal to work out the ends shadowed forth.

As the past of Georgia has been without precedent in the South, so the greatness of our future, with increasing advantages and facilities cannot be predicted. We shall have still more to say of this road. We have endeavored in this issue to represent this grand enterprise as completely as our limits would permit, and to make a paper that the business men can lay away for future use, and this must be our apology for giving so much space to one subject. We intend to take up one by one the great material enterprises of the country and bring them before our readers.

THE NEGRO QUESTION.—It is amusing to hear the variety of speculation upon what will be the decision of our Supreme Court upon negroes holding office. There seems to be a very decided belief that the darkey will be pronounced eligible. Some predict that Warner and McCoy will take this view, while Brown will stand firm to his Marietta record. Others put Warner and Brown in alliance for non-eligibility. But the majority opine that the thing will be done. While we are telling rumors, we may as well open the whole bag, and say that a tremendous report prevails, getting out nobody knows how, that if the negro is declared eligible, Bullock will call the Legislature together in thirty days. All this wild "grape vine" must be construed just as gassy as it really is. We give it as a part of the times.

☞ The New York Tribune keeps a standing column, headed "Crime in the South," and it gleans peccadilloes from every Southern State.

Now, we wager that the record of crime in New York city alone, will make a heavier column than the chronicle of every rascality South, from the "Atlanta Battle of the Buskets" up to the latest Ku-Klux murder.

And, were the Tribune to close with the heading, "Crime in the North," it could double its triple sheets daily, and then stop for want of space, to keep the history complete.

Under these circumstances, a fair journal would drop the thing. It is a part of the political programme to malign the South.

THE WARRENTON AFFAIR.—We print in another column Col. Pottle's letter to the Augusta Chronicle, giving a full account of the Warrenton embroglio. We have a letter from a correspondent of our own, giving other particulars which we will publish in our next issue.

☞ The Catalogue of the University of Georgia for 1868-1869, is on our table. A few days ago we gave a full account of this fine institution from our special correspondent.

The catalogue is gotten up in Tue Constitution Job Office, and is an elegant specimen of workmanship.

☞ The Cartersville Georgian has been enlarged and changed in its name to The Universe. Its editors are W. M. Peebles and H. N. Lewis. The terms are $2 50 per year, $1.25 for six months. It will be sent on trial, three months, for fifty cents. It is much complimented as a literary journal. Address "The Universe, Chicago, Ill." The "Sorosis" and "Advance Guard," have been merged into it.

PROFESSOR WADDELL.—We were away, Saturday, when Professor Waddell's letter was received.

We very frankly state that we think the Professor has got the better of the Southern Publishers, and stands vindicated very triumphantly. We think it due to him to say it.

☞ Reading matter on every page.

☞ Alexander H. Stephens has written a letter to the National Intelligencer in answer to some strictures of Judge Nicholas upon his great work. We propose to notice the letter more at length.

☞ Dr. T. Y. Henry, grandson of Patrick Henry, the Revolutionary Orator, died at Quincy, Fla., June 1st.

☞ It is rumored that Geary will take Borie's place in the Cabinet.

The Warrenton Arrests.

WARRENTON, June 9, 1869.

Editor Chronicle and Sentinel: Many reports of occurrences in this town will find their way to the press, and for the purpose of giving you and through you the people at large, a correct account of them, I write this letter. In March last the office of Sheriff was made vacant in this county by the absence of John C. Norris from the county; he had no deputy, though he has filled the office ever since his election, about a year ago. The Ordinary of this county, in view of the approaching term of the Superior Court, and other emergencies, after taking legal advice, both here and elsewhere, passed an order appointing John Raley, an old and experienced officer, to fill the vacancy, "ad interim." This order was entered on his minutes, reciting that he had evidence that the former Sheriff had left with no intention of returning. On the first Monday in April following, the presiding Judge, (Judge Andrews,) at the opening of the Court, put an order on his minutes reciting the absence of the Sheriff, and that there was no deputy, and appointed Mr. Raley Sheriff, to serve as such during the term and for ten days afterwards, as provided by the Code of the State. The Code farther provides, (see sections 251 and 252 of Irwins revised Code) that if, after the expiration of ten days, the officer vacating his office does not appear, the appointee may continue as such until there is an appointment or election. The 251st section, under which the Judge made his appointment in April, provides "if there is a vacancy in the Clerk" (Sheriff, for the same provision applies to both) "and his deputy for any reason do not act as clerk" (sheriff) "at the time provided by law holding any of said courts, the presiding Judge shall appoint a clerk" (Sheriff) "who holds his office during the time and for ten days thereafter." Mr. Norris did not return to the county until the fourth day of June, and then with a military escort, commanded by Col. Hughes, of the U. S. A.; he came with a paper signed by Governor Bullock, deciding the question of his right to the office of Sheriff in his favor. During Norris' absence it is known that he was in Atlanta, and in constant consultation with the Governor. With the paper signed by Governor Bullock, which Norris brought to this place, came orders from General Terry to the commandant at this post, instructing him to recognize Norris as Sheriff, and to furnish him men when demanded. Of course I cannot say what these orders were precisely, but the sequel will show that Norris had full powers to use the entire command for his purposes when necessity required it, and that he was to be the judge of that necessity. There can be no question but that Governor Bullock and General Terry both knew that there was a Sheriff in office in Warren county, acting under authority when the decision and orders were made. On the 5th day of June, Judge Andrews passed the depot at this place, and was called upon by officers of this command to enlighten them upon the vexed question; but he very properly declined to express an opinoin, and said that the identical question was then pending before him, and in a few days he would decide it.

Colonel Hughes, Judge Andrews and Mr. Norris went on the train together, and Colonel Hughes had full knowledge of Judge Andrews' views and intentions; he went to Atlanta with Norris, and it is highly probable—almost certain—that he communicated to his chief and Governor Bullock, the conversation with the Judge on the 7th of June. Norris returned with an additional force of about one hundred and thirty men, and went with them into camp; additional orders came to the Command, it is supposed, for in about three hours after his arrival he ordered a detachment of soldiers to arrest the acting Sheriff, Raley, refused to show his authority when demanded by Raley, refused to give time for suing out habeas corpus, and in less than one hour, at the head of a detachment of thirty or forty soldiers with a commissioned officer, marched him to jail and put him in the dungeon. The best that I could do was to get the writ returnable on Tuesday morning, the 8th, and had copies of it served on Norris, Maj. Van Wart, the commander, and the Lieutenant of the guard. On the night of the 8th, Norris, with the guard, arrested Messrs. E. E. Cody, E. S. Cady, James M. Cody, H. Martin and A. J. Hartley, refusing to show or state any authority when demanded. One was taken from his bed at a late hour of the night in the presence of his family; two others taken from their beds, and after the arrest of one, his gun and pistol taken from the house and carried away by Norris; all were lodged in jail immediately on their arrest. On the morning of the 8th Raley was produced under the writ of Norris. Major Van Wart (I am glad to say) respected the process, and answered denying custody, but that his command was only acting as "posse comitatus" under orders from his superior officer at Atlanta. Norris with great reluctance, made his return and with it affidavits and warrants under the hand of a Notary Public ex officio J. P. of Fulton county. The affidavits were made by Norris himself and put into his hands for execution, with orders to take the parties before the Notary in Atlanta or some judicial officer. Some charging an assault with intent to murder him (Norris,) some an assault with intent to rob jail keys, some for freeing a party from jail. It is not known whether the genius of the Attorney General of the State was employed in these specimens of criminal pleading, but Mr. Norris stated in open court, that he was his counsel and had been telegraphed for to prosecute the cases. No one will deny but these arrests and imprisonments were illegal, contrary to, and in defiance of law. But the parties all being anxious to meet the charges, waived all objections and proposed to give these recognizances with any amount of bond for their appearance at any court in the county in which the crimes were charged to have been committed. This, Norris resisted, and, with a force of fifty men or more at command, urged the confinement of all in jail. The Judge (Dr. R. W. Hubert), Ordinary, decided in favor of the petition for bail and released them on strong bonds at their own request. On the afternoon of the same day an injunction was served on Norris, issuing from Judge Andrews, commanding him to perform no official act until the further order of Court. Here the matter now rests, and but for this, in twelve hours the country prison would have been made a bastile for Norris and Governor Bullock. It remains to be seen whether orders from Atlanta will direct him to respect this process of the court or not, and whether General Terry will sustain him in defiance of the law.

As bad as Norris' conduct has been, all these wanton and wicked violations of law, and the liberties of the citizens are plainly referable to a faithless Executive, whose motive, I fear, is to irritate our people to antagonism with the military, and use this for purposes foreign to the constitutional duties of his office, and it doubtless will excite wonder that the Commander of this Military Department should suffer his power to be used for such illegal purposes. Are we living under a Constitution which protects life, liberty and property? Instead of having an Executive to maintain the honor and defend his State, we have one who plots and contrives to oppress the citizens, and trample upon their liberties. If crime has been committed in this community, it ought to be and can be investigated. The acting Sheriff, Raley, is able and willing to execute any process, and can command a "posse comitatus" from the body of the citizens, if necessary, without the aid of the military. But this is not what they want. A peaceful administration of the law would not suit the purposes. Strifes and collisions are quite necessary to inflame and keep open wounds which are fast healing.

I am happy to say that this plot has thus far miscarried, though the provocation has been great, our people have borne it with manhood and patience. The first known act of Governor Bullock in this matter was to decide who was the lawful Sheriff of Warren county. Whence comes this right of the Executive department to assume a function which belongs to another co-ordinate branch of the government, to decide all judicial questions? The usurpation appears the more flagrant when his decision was put in force by him, with the military to back it, after he knew that the exact question was pending in the Superior Court, and that, too, before a Judge of his own selection. For all the illegal arrests and restraints upon the liberty which followed, Governor Bullock must be held responsible before the tribunals of public opinion.

It affords me pleasure to add that in the performance of their delicate duties, the commander of the troops, with officers and men under him, without an exception, conducted themselves with eminent propriety and a just regard for the sensibilities of our people. No good citizen desires to assail or evade the requirements of law. To its supremacy in all things, let us all bow.

I am, your obedient serv't

E. H. POTTLE.

LIVER.

Medicine for Dyspepsia, Headache Jaundice, Costiveness, Camp Dysentery, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhœa, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Fever, Nervousness, Bilis, Diseases of the Skin, Impurity of the Blood Melancholy or Depression of Spirits

Most of the ailments here enumerated have their origin in a diseased liver, which is the most prevalent affection in this country, and as in many cases the patient is not within the reach of a physician, it requires that some remedy should be provided that would not in the least impair the constitution, and yet be active and safe. That such is the character of the SIMMONS REGULATOR therefore can be no doubt, which the testimony of hundreds will establish.

SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED

LIVER.

Pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade and is mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of great fear and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, an eruption of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude to try it. In fact, all the symptoms of dyspepsia are present. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred when few of them existed, yet examination of the body after death has shown the Liver to have been extensively deranged.

It should be used by all persons, old and young, whenever any of the foregoing symptoms appear. It is a purely vegetable compound, is not injurious to the most delicate constitutions, and will keep the liver in healthy action if used properly.

Persons living in unhealthy localities may avoid all bilious attacks by taking a dose occasionally to keep the liver in healthy action.

Regulator

For children complaining of colic, headache, or sick stomach a teaspoonful or more will give relief. Children, as well as grown persons, that sometimes too much sugar or eat something which does not digest well, or produces sour stomach, heart-burn, or restlessness, a good dose will give relief. This applies to persons of all ages.

Many persons, from eating too much, are restless at night, or in the morning after breakfast, feeling "don't understand what they want, can't keep their thoughts on any one subject so as to read well, or become fretful. One or two tablespoonful will give relief.

Jaundice.—Take enough Regulator after eating each meal to produce one full action from the bowels every day.

Females will find sure relief from their headache, costiveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach restlessness, etc., etc.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA: JUNE 16

HON. JOSHUA HILL.—We understand that Hon. Joshua Hill, and his son-in-law, Col. J. Bowers, will remove to Stone Mountain, as soon as their dwellings [are] erected.

RETURNED.—Dr. J. Brailsford returned to the city on Sunday, after an extended visit to Texas. He returns in fine health and spirits, and reports corn and wheat crops promising.

FLOUR.—Seago announces that he will sell flour from fall wheat, in any quantity, at less prices than it can be brought from the West.

TO BE SOLD.—Col. G. W. Adair will sell at ten o'clock this morning, the old frame buildings at the corner of Hunter and Whitehall streets, on what is known as the Scofield property.

A NEW BAPTIST CHURCH.—We learn that it is contemplated to start a mission Baptist Church in the neighborhood of West End soon. We trust that success may attend the effort.

"A HAT, my kingdom for a hat," as the young man remarked, just before he started to see his lady love; and he proceeded to Holbrook's and supplied himself, and is now a happy benedict.

FULTON SUPERIOR COURT.—The motion Docket was taken up yesterday, in Fulton Superior Court, and the day devoted to hearing of motions. The Juries were discharged.

AFFECTING SCENE.—Some eight or ten school marms left yesterday morning, at eight o'clock, for Cincinnati. The parting scene between them and their colored friends was quite affecting:

Tears they shed,
Till their eyes were red,
And fail of water,
And amid deep scent
Of they went—
Which they hadn't oughter.

KEEP COOL.—Avoid the heat of the Summer's sun, by purchasing one of Holbrook's genteel and fashionable hats.

CORRECTION.—In the report of the proceedings of the City Council, published Sunday Morning, two errors were unintentionally committed—the result of writing like a genius—very bad. For the petition "of a Sorrel Hoss for relief" read "of Norrell Poss" and for "Julia Taylor" read "Julia Thompson" whose house was considered a nuisance.

A GOOD MOVE.—The City Council on Friday night, adopted a resolution to span the Georgia Railroad on Bell street (opposite the Cemetery) with a bride, so as to make it a convenient place for persons to cross. They also resolved to continue Hunter street by constructing a tunnel under the Macon and Western Railroad. These new routes will be of much service to our citizens. Contractors will notice the City Engineer's card in another column.

"LOVE'S DELIGHT."—"Love's Delight" is one of Holbrook's fashionable adornments for the head.

INDIAN SPRINGS.—In another column will be found the advertisement of this popular resort of the fashionable world. It is a place of note and attraction. The salubrity of climate, purity of atmosphere and curative power of its waters, renders it a peculiarly inviting resort for invalids. In connection with this, Messrs. Collier & Co. have everything that the market affords on their table and spare no pains to make their guests comfortable. In this "hearty term" it exerts a wonderful recuperative power upon the over-tasked physical or mental man, to spend a week or so at the Indian Springs. We commend it to our readers.

ALL THE RAGE.—Holbrook's stylish summer hats are all the rage at present.

HANDSOME DONATION.—Messrs. W. D. and John N. Fain presented, the other day, four handsomely framed Steel Plate Engravings of "Clay, Calhoun, Webster and Jackson," to the Young Men's Library Association. The pictures are fine specimens of art, and were procured at Phillips & Crew's.

DISGRACEFUL.—On Sunday, a crowd of about six hundred negroes went down to Decatur, procuring a train from the Georgia Railroad, on the ostensible plea that they were going there to attend a big meeting. When they arrived at Decatur, we are informed, that disreputable white persons who went with them, vended whisky and lager beer all day long to them. Much drunkenness, rioting and disorderly conduct prevailed. The quiet of that peaceable and moral community, was rudely disturbed. We understand that the disreputable parties who vended the liquor will be prosecuted for selling liquor in DeKalb county, without a license from that county, for selling without an Internal Revenue license and for violation of State Law in selling on Sunday.

COTTON GINS.—P. W. J. Echols has sold, in the last few weeks, two of Scattergood's Needle-tooth Cotton Gins, to parties residing in Forsyth county, Ga.

WHEAT.—New York, June 11.—Wheat heavy; No. 1 spring, $1 45 to 1 46; No. 2, $1 42½ to 1 43; choice Michigan amber, $1 53 to 1 54; California, $1 70. Philadelphia—Red $1 35 to 1 50; amber, $1 60 to 1 65. Baltimore—White, $1 02; red, $1 50; fair, $1 20 to 1 25. St. Louis—Flour dull, No. 2, spring, $1 02 to 1 02½; prime to choice, fall, $1 20 to 1 45. Cincinnati—light receipts, and holders off. Chicago—dull, No. 1, $1 13 to 1 13½; No. 2, $1 10 cash. Milwaukee—No. 1, $1 14½; No. 2, $1 10¾. Nashville—dull and drooping, offering of new for month's delivery, large. Millers operating with caution, and they are not disposed to operate at one dollar, as the advices from the seaboard are very unfavorable.

The Union and American, of the 12th, says:

"Dispatches were received to-day announcing the receipts of the enormous amount of 26,000 bushels. A private letter, to one of our millers, quotes his best brand of flour at $7 35, and further stated that the Northwest and West were flooding the market with flour. This will necessarily have large numbers of millers in those sections to the wall, and it is deeply to be regretted, as we had looked to our surplus crop of wheat for a large revenue. We have not heard of an order being received by any of our grain dealers for wheat for shipment North. Since writing the foregoing, our night dispatches are in, announcing a still further decline, in New York, of standard superfine to $6 12, closing at $5. It costs from $1 75 to $2 to ship and send a barrel of flour from here to New York. Unless a foreign demand should spring up, or an accident occur on the Northern crop, prices will go still lower. While regretting the loss of the fruit men of the country, we derive some consolation from cheap breadstuffs."

RAIN.—Rain was the order of the day yesterday, with slight intermissions.

SCURVEY.—We learn that when Ames' Circus visited a neighboring town, a young man, from the "rural districts," invited a young lady to accompany him to the show. She accepted his invitation. As the couple drew near the Circus, he asked her if she had stamps enough about her to pay her way in. She replied that she had not, and consequently had to go back home and get the money to secure admission. Et tu brute!

RINGGOLD.—The Sons of Temperance at Ringgold, are rapidly increasing in numbers. They propose to erect a hall soon. Seven thousand dollars have been raised by a joint stock company to build a fine academy or college. They will increase this largely. It will be styled the Masonic Literary Institute. Three cheers for Ringgold and her citizens.

Local and Business Notices.

NOTICE.—Col. C. H. Acker, is the only authorized traveling Agent of THE CONSTITUTION, and we commend him to the attention of our friends wherever he may go in behalf of our interest.

LOTTERIES.—At the recent session of the Supreme Court of Alabama, a case was argued coming up from Mobile, relative to lotteries. The Alabama State Lottery had been sued to the amount of $17,000, which they refused to pay. Eminent legal counsel were employed on either side. We see Judge O. A. Lochrane, of this State, announced as one of the counsel for the defense, and as having made an unanswerable argument in behalf of his client. It is thought that the case will be decided in favor of the lotteries.

BRECKINRIDGE ON GRANT.—Cabinet Good Enough—War not Probable.—One gentleman asked him what he thought of Grant and his administration, and the reply was that the President was smart enough to take care of himself. His Cabinet, while none of the best, was just such an one as Grant needed, and was better for his purposes than one of more talent would be. It was not designed to make the administration a brilliant one, and Grant's ambition was to make it an every-day sort of useful affair. He was studying the best way to do this, and Mr. Breckinridge believed he would succeed in a degree sufficient to make the people feel easy, although they would be by no means satisfied. Mr. Breckinridge does not believe we shall be dragged into a foreign war, although he felt the position of the country to be a delicate one. He thought we should have our dignity ruffled pretty hard before we got up to the fighting pitch, but said if we had a war with England and France, the South would furnish men enough to do the fighting. The South did not entertain the most liberal feelings toward European countries, and many of the people would hail most any kind of a fight with satisfaction.—Milwaukee News.

JOSH BILLINGS' PHILOSOPHY.—I have heard a grate deal ced about "broken harted," and there may be a few ov them but mi experince iz that next tew the gizzard, the harte is the tuffest peace ov meat in the whole critter.

There is nothing in this life that will open the pores of a man so much as tu fall in luv; it makes him az fluent az a tin whissel, az limber az a boy's watch chain, and az perlite az a danzing master; his harte iz az full ov shunshine az a hay field, and there ain't any more guile in him than there is in a stick ov merlasses candy.

Virginia Springs.

THE MONTGOMERY WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, will be open the 1st of June next. Before the war this was the most popular watering place in Virginia. Its situation in Southwestern Virginia on the Eastern slope of the Alleghanies, gives it beautiful scenery, a healthful climate, and pure bracing air. Messrs. Wilson & Lorentz, two enterprising Virginians, have leased it for a term of five years, have thoroughly repaired, newly furnished, and will open it on a scale surpassing its former grandeur. Visitors to this place travel the entire distance by Rail. Getting off at Big Tunnel Station, on the Va., & Tenn., R. R. they are conveyed into the Reception House in ten minutes, on the Springs Branch R'y R. New Baths, Billiard and Bowling Saloons, have been erected for the comfort and amusement of visitors. Post-office, Telegraph, Express and Ticket-offices are on the premises. Daily lines of stages will run to the Greenbriar White, on a route through the wildest scenery in Virginia. Travelers between points North and South, will find this a most delightful resting place. The fare has been reduced to the moderate price of $3 per day, $20 per week, and $70 per month, giving the privilege of special rates to large parties for longer time.

AN AMOROUS ARAB.—In passing one village a handsome young gentleman—a Kabyle Alcibiades—in a very clean robe, accosted us in French. He was astonished that we had come seven thousand kilometres to see him! He had a very vague idea of America, but an enthusiastic admiration for the Italian girl, who is my wife's companion. He ran after our carriage several miles in an ecstacy of love at first sight. The scapegrace! He had two wives already. He said he could afford another, as the last was an orphan, and only cost three hundred francs. I said: "How much do you propose for Mademoiselle?" "A thousand francs, and if you wait here I will go up the mountain for the money." We did not wait, but dashed on.—Letter of S. S. Cox, from Algeria, in the New York World.

KNOWING from long experience the requirements of the Southern trade and with the facilities for manufacturing, I reckon I can give than can be obtained elsewhere in the city.

The "Tilton style" Buggy, for workmanship and material has NO EQUAL, except the "Abbot" buggy. My Repository, one of the largest in the city, possesses the advantage in its location of costing less than half the rent of those up town, I can therefore offer my vehicles at less price.

Those who have had my work require no reference, but to those unacquainted I would respectfully refer to:

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA:::::::::JUNE 14.

City and Suburban Affairs.

THERE were several errors in our Greek paragraph of Saturday morning, which were not observed in time for correction. How this happened, we need not explain, as the matter does not affect the purpose of the paragraph. Whether the fault was in the "copy" or in the "proof-reading" is a point of no concern; for if Prof. Waddell were bringing out a work through a Southern house, he would, of course, prepare his own copy and read his own final proof-sheet, in which case, we doubt not, such errors would find no place.

BIG JOHN VS. RAILROADS.—Big John Underwood, of Bill Arp notoriety, has fallen out with railroads—says he will never patronize one again. A friend suggested that he would be obliged to ride on the cars occasionally.

"Oh, yes, of course I will go in the cars, but the railroads shall never get another cent of my money."

"How will you keep the railroads out of your cars?" asked a friend.

"Oh," says John, "I will pay the conductors."

RUN-OFF.—The down passenger train on the Georgia railroad that left here last evening ran off the track at Crawfordville, in consequence of the switch being placed wrong. The engine, tender and baggage car were forced off, without, however, inflicting any serious damage. None of the passengers were hurt. In consequence of this, the up passenger train, due here at 7:40 this morning, did not reach here until 12 o'clock, M.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Bennett Lee, aged seventy, dropped dead while ploughing in his field in Gwinnett county, on Saturday last, supposed from heart disease.

RAIN.—We are having pleasant and frequent showers to-day.

RICHMOND June 13.—The duel on Saturday afternoon, between Capt. W. E. Cameron, editor Petersburg Index, a conservative paper, and Robert W. Hughes, a contributor to the Richmond State Journal, the Republican organ, was in consequence of an article denouncing Hughes.

The fight took place in North Carolina, sixteen miles from the Norfolk and Petersburg Railroad. Weapons—pistols—Cameron was struck in the breast on the first fire, the ball striking a rib and glancing. Hughes demanded another fire, but the Surgeons pronounced Cameron unable to deliver another shot. Hughes then declared that he was satisfied and the affair ended.

Cameron's wound is severe, but it is not considered dangerous.

Mr. Motley is willing to receive and consider propositions.
